

Abstract

A method and a device for attaching a sensor means (10) relative to a glass pane (50) of a motor vehicle are described, a contact space (32) being provided, which is sealed and which is provided with a partial vacuum.

(Figure 1)